

MISSION FACTS

If America were required to provide all the missionaries needed around the world, the force could be created with less than 0.5% of evangelicals aged 18-35.

HEART CHECK

Check out the ministry of Operation Compassion. Find out about the many orphan projects that are conducted around by the Church of God at www.operationcompassion.com. Drive around your city. Look for places of pain. Look for virtually abandoned children. Ask God – what should I do? Host a prayer meeting in which you pray for globally abandoned children. Weep for them.

THE MANDATE

Whoever receives one little child like this in My name receives Me (Matthew 18:5).

THE MEDITATION

Lord, I can almost see him – that little boy without a father and mother. Still a child himself, he has the care of younger siblings. His all-consuming passion for the day, having survived the night, is food. These young ones have swollen tummies, hungry eyes, lonely faces – I can almost see him. It is so hard for me to believe that 12,000 like him will die today simply due to lack of food. Another 8,000 will die from preventable childhood diseases today. How could it happen on a planet with so much? How could we let it happen?

It seems so far away that I have rationalized my way out of responsible action. Truth is – I am not only responsible for those far away but also for those close to home. I don't want to be silent. I don't want to be passive. Show me what to do. Don't let me off easily – with a $10 a month gift to some agency. Vicarious giving may provide some reward, but it distances me from the mission. Direct me onto the turf of some harvest field. Let me dirty my hands. I give you permission to break my heart, to wet my eyes. Let my tears flow in prayer, not over my own woes, but over the pain of others – the hopeless, the orphans, the widows, the unjustly treated.

I have been still too long. Silent too frequently. Let me lift my voice in prayer – it is the first step. Fill my hands with tools. Send me into your harvest.

Pray for the Harvest one Sunday a month.
