

MISSION FACTS

Mongolia, with no church in 1991, now has over 3,000 believers in 17 congregations. The Mongolians have sent missionaries to India. The best-selling book in Japan is now the Bible. In a government survey, 67% of the Japanese named Jesus as the greatest religious leader in history.

HEART CHECK

Invite someone to attend church with you. Take them out to lunch afterward. Don't press, but don't miss opportunities to tell them about Jesus or share your story. Look for someone who you think is an unlikely candidate for salvation. Add them to your prayer list. Inquire about the root of their bitter opposition to faith. Begin to systematically pray for them.

THE MANDATE

Do you not say, 'There are still four months and then comes the harvest?' Behold, I say to you, lift up your eyes and look at the fields, for they are already white for harvest! (John 4:35).

THE MEDITATION

Dear Lord, can the harvest really be ripe? Like the disciples, we feel like it is a season away. And yet, according to one poll, 82% of North Americans would go to church if only a Christian invited them. And 7% not only plan to attend a church, they are privately looking for one. Looking for an open door? That is 33% of the population open to faith discussions?

Have we listened to belligerent opponents of faith, often so vocal, that we have concluded that they spoke for all? Are we missing the clues that reveal the silent spiritual hunger of friends around us? Are we so quiet that we have not sent signals that others would ask us about Jesus? Forgive us. May we never write anyone off!

Who could have guessed that Saul of Tarsus would be saved, and become the mighty Apostle Paul? With you, aggressive opponents become preachers.

Lord, sometimes we are like the disciples who left you at the well and went into the city, only to return with snacks. You found the harvest in the woman at the well. And the whole city followed her back to the well to meet you. The disciples were shocked that you were even talking to such a woman! They missed the harvest. They wrote her off – as uninterested, as not redemptive material. Never would they have guessed that on that day she was a better evangelist than they were!

O God, the harvest is ripe again – are we overlooking the most reachable? Are we reluctant to embrace those you are ready to reach? Forgive us for selective love, for our blindness. Don't let us give up on any segment of the North American harvest!
